MESSAGES FROM MEMBERS OF THE NATIONAL SMALL SCULPTURE COMMITTEE ON THE OCCASION OF THE OPENING OF THE FOURTH ANNUAL EXHIBITION OF SMALL SCULPTURES IN WHITE SOAP FOR THE PROCTER & GAMBLE PRIZES

~

ELLSWORTH WOODWARD

Director, Newcomb College, School of Art

NEW ORLEANS, LA.

The remarkable increase of those using white soap as preliminary medium in sculpture is one of the many signs of increased responsiveness to possibilities of art expression on the part of both artist and public. I congratulate you on adding so available and satisfactory a medium in the encouragement of widespread endeavor.

THEODORE HANFORD POND

Director, Dayton Art Institute

DAYTON, OHIO

The prize competitions for small sculptures in white soap sponsored by the Procter and Gamble Company during the past four years have made the lost art of sculpture live again in the hearts and homes of the American people.

ALFRED GEORGE PELIKAN

Director, Milwaukee Art Institute

MILWAUKEE, WISCONSIN

The medium of white soap for carving has proven of great value in developing a better appreciation and understanding as to the significance of the plastic arts. Thousands of boys and girls all over the country have enthused and thrilled over their imaginative creations in three dimensions. You are to be commended in sponsoring this democratic art which has brought happiness to many and has inspired the more talented to enter the art field.

JOHN COTTON DANA

Director, Newark Museum Association

NEWARK, N. J.

In no country and at no time in the world's history has the artist appeared and produced things unless he was encouraged to do so. Always when the artists appear it is because the social order of which they are a part offers incentives for those with talent and urge to come forth. Your exhibition of small sculpture in soap, giving opportunities for hundreds of artists to exhibit, and offering prizes for talent, is one of the most progressive and democratic methods devised by American business for encouraging American artists.

RUSH RHEES

President, Memorial Art Gallery

ROCHESTER, N. Y.

You have my cordial congratulations on the expanded success of annual exposition of soap—another proof that a new medium of expression has been increasingly found by many. Soap affords a truly sculptural experience of form conceived within a given mass. Annual competition is now a public occasion in Rochester, the Gallery exhibiting work of children's classes and adult public before sending it to New York.

MESSAGES FROM MEMBERS OF NATIONAL SMALL SCULPTURE COMMITTEE

THEODORE HANFORD POND

Director Dayton Art Institute
DAYTON, OHIO

Congratulations on Opening of Fifth Annual Exhibition of Small Sculpture in Soap. The long continued popularity of this movement is proof of its important relationship to the emergence of a national art consciousness.

LORADO TAFT

CHICAGO, ILL.

I think that you are doing one of the finest things possible for the discovery of talent and the encouragement of American sculpture. The idea was an inspiration. My best wishes for your continued success.

RUSH RHEES

President Memorial Art Gallery
ROCHESTER, N. Y.

I speak again my high estimation of the movement which has put soap into nationwide use as a sculptural medium. The extent and quality of this Fifth Annual Exhibition prove the recognition of its value to students and sculptors alike. Many of the large problems of the space arts are contained in the matrix of one cake of soap.

ALON BEMENT

Director, Art Center
65 EAST 56TH STREET
NEW YORK, N. Y.

The Small Sculpture Competition is beneficial to all who compete for two reasons. It engenders skill and develops powers of appreciation.

ALFRED GEORGE PELIKAN

Director Milwaukee Art Institute
MILWAUKEE, WIS.

The art of soap sculpture has been so firmly established as an educational aid in the Art Department throughout the country that it has entirely vindicated itself of any charge of being just another fad. I have been amazed at the extent and the diversity of its use. It has been a source of delight to me on numerous occasions when I have encountered a beautiful form carved in soap in the studios of some of our young sculptors. It never fails to be a source of surprise whenever I see the results obtained with it in the Schools whether in the high schools or in the kindergarten. It has done a great deal to awaken and further appreciation for the fine art of sculpture particularly as it relates to the environment of the average individual. My best wishes for continued success are yours.

R. A. HOLLAND

Director Kansas City Art Institute
KANSAS CITY, MO.

The national exhibition of small sculpture in soap has probably done as much to stimulate an interest in art and especially sculpture on the part of the general public as any other single agency. The prizes offered have been an incentive to young sculptors and students of art, and I congratulate you and wish you continued success.

CHARLES DANA GIBSON

598 Madison Avenue
New York, N. Y.

Michel Angelo began by modeling in butter. If Procter and Gamble had been in existence in those days he would have used soap.

C. J. BARNHORN

Cincinnati Art Museum
Cincinnati, Ohio

Small Sculpture in soap interests me because of the direct manner in which it must be carved. It teaches one to express himself in the simplest way. Above all, it creates a taste for sculpture, the use of tools, and craftsmanship in general.

JOHN COTTON DANA

Director, Newark Museum
Newark, N. J.

Exhibits of small sculpture in white soap help us to realize that the work of artists need not have great permanence or be the product of months and years of labor to give us high pleasure and to show once more how near is simplicity to beauty. Vases of the simplest design, a flower or two and a spray of green may be joined to make a whole, short lived but of surpassing beauty, and like fine sculpture in white soap can remind us that it is simply the artist's touch that brings beauty to us and not subject, time or medium.

DR. GUSTAVE STRAUBENMULLER

Associate Superintendent of Schools
New York, N. Y.

It has often been said that art will not become democratic until the hearts of the people respond to its pulsations, that is until the people feel what is good and what is bad in art. Implanting this feeling in the innermost recesses of their hearts is a slow process, but not a hopeless one. We must all of us work at this democratization of art. We cannot leave it to museums and art exhibits, for their visitors are limited.

People refrain from trying a hand at sculpture or painting because no one has asked them to try, or because they have associated a try at art with great expense and difficult technique, or because they have never thought of it at all.

The National Small Sculpture Committee presents a new idea. It suggests not only a good and cheap medium, namely soap, but the idea of trying to do something.

We do not know how many, through these contests have discovered an aptitude not known to themselves heretofore, and have supplied themselves with an occupation or pastime in their leisure moments.

R. GUY COWAN

Cleveland, Ohio

It gives me a peculiar pleasure to sense the growing interest in sculpture. The national competition in white soap is doing more than any other agency to develop an intelligent interest on the part of young America.

MESSAGES RECEIVED ON THE OCCASION OF THE OPENING OF THE SIXTH ANNUAL SOAP SCULPTURE EXHIBITION

THEODORE HANFORD POND

Director of the Akron Art Institute

AKRON, OHIO

More than ever our civilization of today needs the humanizing influence of art to maintain its equilibrium. The movement to popularize the art of sculpture is therefore worthy of the great success it has achieved.

R. A. HOLLAND

Director of the Kansas City Art Institute

KANSAS CITY, MO.

The annual exhibition of soap sculpture is stimulating an interest in art which will be lasting and far reaching in its influence. Those who contribute to this form of art expression either become creators of more serious things or develop an appreciation of the creations of others. Both are essential to the cultural development of our nation.

CHARLES W. KOLLOCK

President of the Charleston Museum

CHARLESTON, S. C.

The opening of the Sixth Annual Exhibition of Small Sculptures in White Soap for the Procter and Gamble prizes is most significant of the great good which is being done and I congratulate you and wish you every success.

MRS. JENNIE RUSSELL SIMPSON

Curator, Bytown Historical Museum

OTTAWA, ONTARIO

A simple and direct way of bringing out latent talent. Should awaken an international art consciousness especially in our schools.

DR. PAUL RIOU

Ecole des Hautes Etudes Commerciales de Montreal

MONTREAL, CANADA

I wish you great success for the democratic art movement you are developing. Our Canadians appreciate much your work for the progress of sculpture.

DR. GUSTAVE STRAUBENMULLER

Associate Superintendent of Schools

NEW YORK, N. Y.

The display of small sculptures in white soap is growing annually both in number of exhibits and in their quality. It is evident that more and more of the people are discovering the medium through which they can economically express their conceptions of form.

WILLIAM J. DRAKE

The Gorham Company

NEW YORK, N. Y.

Your annual exhibition of sculpture in white soap has grown in popularity to where it is anticipated by the general public as well as the artist and student, and you are to be congratulated on your developments in this field, thus bringing opportunity to the door of those who otherwise might never realize that they had the great gift of creative genius. The many awards given by Procter and Gamble and the opportunity of exhibiting in their traveling show adds to the interest and desire of the one artistically inclined to create something original and unique. It will be a pleasure for me to see the results of your sixth contest.

ALFRED G. PELIKAN

Director of the Milwaukee Art Institute, and Supervisor of Art, Milwaukee Public Schools

MILWAUKEE, WIS.

As a means of stimulating interest in the art of sculpture as an exploratory medium for creative expression, and as a factor for discovering talent among our young people, no movement has been so universally effective and so enthusiastically endorsed as the annual competition for sculpture in white soap sponsored by the National Soap Sculpture Committee. The ability to carefully execute an idea which requires the coordination of a creative mind and the skillful use of the hands is an asset which is of inestimable value not only in the arts, but also in the field of science and industry. The ever increasing interest in white soap as a medium for artistic expression amply justifies the continuance of this undertaking. I anticipate excellent results at the Sixth Annual Exhibition, and join in adding my unqualified endorsement of the project.

RUSH RHEES

President of the Memorial Art Gallery

ROCHESTER, N. Y.

We regard the small sculpture competition for the Procter and Gamble prizes as a valuable incentive to development of creative artistic activity in children.

MRS. J. C. BRADFORD

Director of the Nashville Museum of Arts

NASHVILLE, TENN.

I am delighted to tell you that the Tennessee soap sculpture exhibition was such a success that it will hereafter be held permanently every year. It aroused a very great interest throughout the state in the adult as well as the child. I am more than ever impressed with what soap sculpture is doing to arouse an interest in art in the public and an appreciation of its democratic tendencies. The easy medium stimulates confidence and ambition, and encourages the use of the hand as well as the head, so necessary in the early training of the child. I hope you may continue the good work in which you have been so successful.

WILLIAM MacINTOSH

Curator, Natural History Society of New Brunswick

ST. JOHN, N. B.

The soap sculpture exhibition held recently in this city has done more to stimulate an interest in art sculpture on the part of the general public than any other agency in recent years. Many pleased with their success in soap carving are developing a real appreciation of art. We wish you success.

MARY L. ALEXANDER

Sculptor

CINCINNATI, OHIO

While the art of cutting small sculpture in white soap is in its swaddling clothes, it is certain that through its popularity it is rapidly helping to make small sculpture more widely appreciated, and through its use in schools, it is teaching the younger generation to observe form for its own sake and to differentiate between the technique of modeling and carving.

WILLIAM H. BREITHAUPT

Past President, Ontario Historical Society of Artists

TORONTO, ONTARIO

Opportunity made available through the National Soap Sculpture movement should be the most efficient means yet brought forward for encouragement of artistic talent in sculpture wherever found.

FRED H. BRIGDEN

President, Ontario Society of Artists

TORONTO, ONTARIO

Fostering of soap sculptures has had hearty approval of the sculpture members of the Ontario Society of Artists, as through this medium, numbers of young people are being stimulated to take a practical interest in the art of sculpture. The results are quite remarkable.

WILLIAM GARNET HAZARD

Director of the Regina College Conservatory of Art

REGINA, SASKATCHEWAN

Much interest is being aroused in our city by soap sculpture. It is interesting and attractive, so easily handled and yet leaves nothing to be desired in this art. Allow me, as an instructor of art, to express my sincere appreciation of your work.

FRED S. HAINES

Curator, the Art Gallery of Toronto

GRANGE PARK, TORONTO

I have found young students at Art Gallery and Ontario College Art intensely interested in this form of art expression. Its flexibility makes it extremely valuable in assisting the child to fulfill its creative impulse.
